Montpelier invite museum professionals to a
Brew & Review for*

Blast-in-the-Past:
A Hands-On History Playground

This is the fourth in a series of peer review events organized by MAHM to bring Maryland museum professionals together to discuss important topics in the field.

This Brew & Review will be an observation of children playing in the hands-on history playground, followed by refreshments and a discussion on improving the playground to maximize opportunities for the 12 key types of play. Please see attached list, from "Crises in Kindergarten: Why Children Need to Play in School," by Edward Miller and Joan Almon.
